Re: Concerns related to Louis DeJoy and the proposed 10-year plan

Dear Ms Poling,

I am taking this opportunity to express my sincere and profound concerns about Louis DeJoy's proposed 10-year plan for the USPS and his actions which have negatively affected many aspects of the USPS, businesses, and those in the United States that send and receive mail via the USPS.

I believe that this 10-year plan would, if accepted and implemented, further erode trust in the USPS and all government agencies and employees. Rollback of consumer mail services is not acceptable. Longer delivery times for first class mail is not acceptable. Closing existing post offices and reducing the hours that post offices are open for customers are not acceptable. We have been subjected to delays in receiving mail due to DeJoy's directed actions.

As a former Federal employee (FDA) I have experienced the doubt and criticism by Americans when decisions were made by Federal officials that were not supported by or understood by those expressing their doubts and concerns. The United States needs to build support for all of its agencies and stop dismantling what has been working well. I urge you to find positive solutions to issues facing the USPS, including its retirement program, so that we can see well thought out and implemented plans that strengthen the mission and actions of the USPS.

I also urge the Postal Regulatory Commission to remove Louis DeJoy from his position as Postmaster General based on his actions (past and proposed) and clear willingness to destroy the USPS. The Postmaster and the Commission should focus on unifying, strengthening, and building for a better tomorrow.

Sincerely,

Carolyn Young, PhD
